Re: Objection to Shannon LNG Import Terminal Planning Application
PA08.311233

Dear Sir/Madam,

I am hereby objecting to An Bord Pleanála granting planning permission for the Shannon LNG/New Fortress Energy LNG Import Terminal (reference PA08.311233) in Tarbert, County Kerry, on planning, climate-mitigation, public-health, environmental-protection and human-rights grounds on behalf of the 1,545 objectors who signed the petition of objection below.

I submit all their comments as part of this objection.

Yours faithfully,

John McElligott

“We, the undersigned, strongly object to the Irish Planning Authority - An Bord Pleanála - granting planning permission for the Shannon LNG/New Fortress Energy LNG Import Terminal (reference <https://www.pleanala.ie/en-ie/case/311233>) in Tarbert, County Kerry, Ireland, on planning, climate-mitigation, public-health, environmental-protection and human-rights grounds”.

Note: By signing this petition you are consenting to the publication of your name, address and comment and the forwarding of this information to An Bord Pleanála. Your email address will not be published.

This list will be hand-delivered to An Bord Pleanála by "Safety Before LNG" on or before October 22nd 2021 because individual submissions cannot be made online and would otherwise cost €50 per submission

We, the undersigned, strongly object to the Irish Planning Authority - An Bord Pleanála - granting planning permission for the Shannon LNG/New Fortress Energy LNG Import Terminal (reference <https://www.pleanala.ie/en-ie/case/311233>) in Tarbert, County Kerry, Ireland, on planning, climate-mitigation, public-health, environmental-protection and human-rights grounds.

78	Aaron Bailey	Killarney, Co. Kerry	This terminal will lock us into a fuel source that undermines the transition to a low-carbon future. The short-term arguments for job creation, rural development, and fuel supply just simply do not contest with the long-term negative impacts and implications for society. Liquid natural gas is not a safe alternative to the green energy options available. Job creation can take myriad of forms - the long-term investment in sustainable employment opportunities carries much more potential for rural regeneration than another extraction-based development. Please take the concerns of signatories into account in the context of a safe, clean energy future for this and future generations. It is alarming to see the recurring nature of NFE's submission. Fracked gas is not legal in Ireland for legitimate reasons. The potential to import fracked gas disregards the genuine reasons it is not permitted in this country. Thank you.

79	Aaron McNiffe	17 Aulden Grange, Clonshagh, Dublin	At a time when urgent climate action is needed, the Shannon LNG project must not go ahead. An Bord Pleanála should be leaders in helping Ireland build sustainable developments and not support the fossil fuel industry.

86	Adela Pickles	120 Muirkirk Road, London, UK	Why invest in fossil fuel infrastructure when humanity is facing a climate catastrophe that could lead to the suffering of untold millions and our own extinction? Humanity needs a stable climate to be able to feed itself. We need to rapidly build clean energy systems at scale or face disaster, and this project is a step backwards.
87	Aedín McLoughlin	Good Energies Alliance Ireland clg	We are completely opposed to this development, which will tie us into fossil fuel infrastructure for a generation to come and support the fracking industry in the United States.
88	Agnes Bernadette Marsala	42 Cromwell Drive, Chesterfield Twp, New Jersey, USA	As a third generation Irish-American, I'm ashamed at the naked disregard for the planet An Bord Pleanála and Shannon LNG/New Fortress Energy show in seeking to build the LNG Import Terminal, the Shannon Technology and Energy Park and especially the regasification unit. The importation of LNG will greatly increase the warming of the Earth. From the extraction of the gas in the Marcellus Shale Play of Pennsylvania, to the conversion of the gas to LNG and shipping at Gibbstown, NJ, to the regasification in Shannon, the damage to the environment is too high a price to pay. Please deny this application.

97	Aine Rynne	Knockliscrane, Miltown Malbay, Co. Clare	It cannot be overemphasised that the lack of urgency that the government insists on regarding fossil fuel consumption is going to have a detrimental effect on generations. The fact that we already banned fracked gas speaks volumes and the fact that the Green Party have allowed things to progress to this stage without public consultation is criminal. Granting permission for Shannon LNG to go ahead should not happen and we need serious consideration about the gravity of this project if it goes ahead. Safety First!! We are at the precipice of an environmental disaster if this goes ahead. Fracked gas should not be imported and Shannon LNG stands for an utterly irresponsible response to our need to reduce emissions. What part of the Climate emergency we are in is not being understood? How is this in any way reflective of this? This urgently needs to be stopped before it's too late. I feel genuinely worried that this going ahead will have an irreversible and detrimental effect on our environment.
98	Aine Treanor	10 Aughnacurra Dangan, Galway	This would be disgraceful if it goes ahead. This is not the direction we should be going in. This is not a transitional fuel. This is business as usual.
99	ainm mccann	Dublin, Ireland

100	Aisling Ffrench	Riverview, Ballykelly	This liquefied natural gas terminal in the Shannon estuary is the last thing we need in the current climate crisis that we are facing. It would be a destructive decision to permit this development. I understand that the construction would provide roughly 250 jobs temporarily and about permanent positions however it does not justify the pollution it would produce and the potential hazards it can cause. There are much better, greener options that should be considered for use of this site between Ballylongford and Tarbert.

Ireland has already taken a stand against the environmental and public health effects of fracking by placing a legislative ban on the process in Ireland. To allow fracking for export to the US is completely contradictory to this stand, and puts citizens of both countries, as well as our climate as a whole, at risk

You can't reduce our national carbon footprint while at the same time rewarding those whose activities are exacerbating the problem. It is one world and one atmosphere. You cannot meaningfully reduce the national global warming footprint through use of LNG while at the same time helping fund the increasing release of methane in the LNG production process. It's like playing Russian roulette but going buying someone else the gun. You're just a likely to end up dead and you have no choice in whether to leave the game or pull the trigger

All the government agencies need to be looking after the well being of the countries' citizens, and that means no more fossil fuels, no more dangerous pipelines. It finished with the words "The clean energy transition is the best insurance against price hikes like the one the EU is facing today." An LNG terminal is not the answer to Ireland's future energy security - rather it represents a major risk of stranded assets. If the terminal is granted planning permission, there will be a major deterrent against new policies to transition away from fossil fuels, because New Fortress Energy could sue the state under the Energy Charter Treaty (this has already happened when a German company sued the Dutch government for its coal phase-out policy). Granting planning permission to Shannon LNG risks jeopardising the success of Ireland's energy transition.

We have to be better and do more if we are to live in a stable society in future decades. We must do better. We must facilitate a just transition away from fossil fuels. Not only is this the wrong direction moving forward, this would be reversing any progress we are making toward a sustainable future and healthy planet - instead harming healthy ecosystems (both marine and land), interdependent species and resources we all depend on for existence and survival. From contaminating our drinking water and harming the environment and the safety and health of people as a result of fracking, pipelines and transport, harming fish populations, harming the health of species on land and in the ocean that provides our oxygen supply, our food supply, facilitates a carbon sink, and performs so many other services. 426	David Lyons	Skerries, Co.Dublin	Non-combusted Methane(Natural Gas)is 84 times more effective at retaining heat in our atmosphere compared to Carbon Dioxide over a twenty year period, if that isn't troubling enough, the Fracking process has been known to cause Earth Quakes and the chemicals mixed with water at the business end of the drill have been known to leak into the ground water. We must not support this Gas extraction process wherever it is being carried out. Some of the nations that produce this fuel also have operational Nuclear Plants. The U.K had an earthquake of 2.9 near Blackpool in August 2019 largely agreed to be associated with fracking activity. Heysham Nuclear Power Station is 17 miles from Blackpool. Despite the effects on Children's brain development, leaded fuel has only just recently been eradicated from the world(took nearly 50 years). Import of LNG, especially originating from fracked gas but even if not, would be a complete derogation from Ireland's duties with respect to basic climate action principles and from the government's stated policy. It must not be permitted ever. An LNG import terminal would fly in the face of stated government policy against LNG imports, and would play havoc with Ireland's chances of keeping within the emissions limits of the Climate Action Plan. It would encourage and remunerate fossil fuel exploitation in the US and Canada, inevitably increasing global warming to unsustainable levels. The choice is clear. There is none. The LNG terminal application must be rejected.

It would be a travesty of justice and blatant hypocrisy re public policy to ban fracking in Ireland but to import fracked gas from elsewhere. Fracking should be banned globally and Ireland cannot be complicit in this environmental travesty. We should be urgently moving forward as an island to alternative eco friendly and climate mitigating means of energy production: increasing our reliance on fossil fuels is moving Ireland backwards at a time when we need to embrace forward thinking solutions to the life threatening climate crisis. We have access to wind and solar power solutions and have a climate aware population who can afford electric cars etc. There is no excuse for establishing this LNG line at this time when every country in the world needs to move away from the use of near depleted stocks of fossil fuels which only exacerbate the climate crisis we all face. If the State is serious about climate change, it cannot be outsourcing its emissions, measuring only what is consumed in Ireland, while ignoring the full lifecycle, non-territorial emissions which would lead to an even higher carbon intensity of the fuels in our energy mix. And all this for the 8 data centres New Fortress Energy plan to build next to the fracked gas import terminal. That's pure madness and amounts to cooking the books to create an emissions tax haven in Ireland. It will all look great on paper, the best little country in the world to do business, but the actual consequences will be an acceleration of global warming and climate breakdown as we outsource more and more of our emissions upstream.

809	John Young	34515 FM 1577, San Benito TX USA	I've been an active member of Save RGV from LNG since May 2014. Because of local efforts, none of the LNG export operations targeting our Port of Brownsville (next door to South Padre Island TX and the Laguna Atascosa National Wildlife Refuge) have been able to put shovel to ground here yet. On 11-22-2019, our US Federal Energy Regulatory Commission issued permits for NextDecade's combo Rio Grande LNG and Rio Bravo Pipeline Projects, Exelon's Annova LNG project, and Glenfarne's Texas LNG project to build and operate at our Port. Since then, the Irish Port of Cork let its non-binding Memorandum of Understanding Inisfree FSRU project time out 12-31-2020 and Annova LNG abandoned its permit without prior warning and without selling its permit to another company. For an update on the Rio Grande, Rio Bravo, and Texas projects, check out my 10-08-2021 Facebook post at https://www.facebook.com/GingerbreadJohn/posts/3092247661053024. 811	Johnny Gogan	Cill an Iomaire, Dromahair, County Leitrim	The applicant has a strong association with gas extracted by use of the process known as "fracking" as evidenced by their interest in a liquefaction plant in Wyalusing Pennsylvania and a new export terminal in Gibbstown, New Jersey. The overwhelming majority of gas extracted in Pennsylvania comes from fracking. It is not credible or consistent with these facts that Shannon LNG/New Fortress Energy will be using gas extracted through so called "conventional" means in the facility under application. Therefore the stated govt Policy (May, 2021) against the importation of fracked gas and against the building of new LNG infrastructure must be observed and adhered to.

Treating Gas as a transition fuel and building the level of infrastructure planned by this development is only going to tie us to burning fossil fuels for longer and puts us at risk of vastly exceeding our climate targets. With the future plans for a massive data centre alongside this LNG terminal there is a risk of this LNG terminal and Gas plant being used to power that data centre even after its power and fuel isn't being considered for the national grid.

1437	Stephen Troake	22 Oranview, Oranmore, Galway H91 C67V	The proposed new infrastructure would perpetuate or increase GHG emissions as well as environmental degradation and human suffering at the point of extraction. 1439	Steve Connor	10 Alberta Avenue LS7 4LX , Leeds, UK

1440	Steve Goldthorpe	9 Queen Street, Warkworth, New Zealand	I am an energy systems analyst with extensive experience in greenhouse gas emissions analysis. Inclusion of LNG technology in the gas transport train from natural gas well to consumer increases the greenhouse footprint of that energy supply to be equivalent to gasoline. If the source of natural gas also includes fracking technology then the overall greenhouse gas footprint of that energy supply would be further increased to become equivalent to coal. Therefore, the proposed import of natural gas into Europe as LNG via Shannon is incompatible with international Climate-Mitigation objectives.
1441	Steve Miller	Middletown, NJ 07748 USA	I am one of tens of thousands of residents of New Jersey and Pennsylvania, USA, who continue our multi-year battle to block the New Fortress plans to compress fracked gas in Pennsylvania, and use extremely dangerous trucks and vintage railcars to transport LNG thru numerous cities to the proposed LNG ship terminal in Gibbstown, New Jersey. From there the LNG would be shipped via massive tankers to your proposed Ireland terminal and other destinations. WE DONT WANT THIS FOSSIL FUEL INFRASTRUCTURE !! It will condemn the world to decades of added global warming Green House Gases.

We are fighting for our lives to stop this industry. It often feels like we are losing the battle because someone dies, or is hospitalized because of the toxicity from the unconventional gas development industry or because our political strategy fails when the industry has more sway on our politicians than the lives of their constituents. These struggles are real for us on the ground in Pennsylvania. Please do everything you can to stop this toxic, abusive industry from your side, the demand side. Do not believe them when they tell you it is safe or that it will help your economy. They lie. The studies and statistics prove their claims woefully inaccurate. I am happy to share clear evidence of the health harms and negative economic impacts. If you can reject it, their power diminishes and we can stand up to them here. 1481	Thomas Oisín Morelli	11 Balally Avenue, Dundrum, Dublin 16.	I do not believe Shannon LNG should be built because it would support fracking gas. Fracked gas is one of the fossil fuels with the highest greenhouse gas emissions because of the emissions of burning it as well as the emissions of extracting it out of the ground. The climate crisis is such a huge global emergency that I think fracking needs to be banned as soon as possible, so I am not in favour of building any infrastructure for gas-fracking companies.

1500	Tom White	63 Lattone Rd, Belcoo, Co Fermanagh, BT93 5DN	Fossil fuels are last centuries' energy. This LNG terminal will use fracked gas and then we have added emissions from LNG conversions. LNG is hugely damaging for climate change given the fugitive methane emissions, overall CO2 emissions and systems efficiency losses (the amount of energy required to liquify LNG/re gassify LNG). Government policy is not to support LNG and therefore An Bord Pleanala needs to dismiss this application in light of Government policy.

Inducing fracking to feed overseas markets is a lose-lose with harm done where fracking and its infrastructure is developed and harm done by the climate-killing greenhouse gas emissions from fracking as well as Ireland receiving dirty energy from the U.S. instead of doing what the people want - truly clean and locally-generated renewable energy, which would be economically beneficial for Ireland.
